Why Green Burial?

It's a personal choice...

"Green, or natural burial, is a way of caring for the dead with minimal environmental impact that aids in the conservation of natural resources, reduction of carbon emissions, protection of worker health, and the restoration and/or preservation of habitat."

(Green Burial Council, 2013)

Reasons you would choose green services and green cemeteries:

- To lessen your impact and reduce your “carbon footprint”
- You view green burial as the traditional way of being buried
- It meets the requirements of your beliefs and religious law
- Green coffins or caskets are easily biodegradable, don’t add toxins to the earth as they decompose (no Volatile Organic Compounds or VOCs), and are often produced in a way that’s carbon-neutral (no Hazardous Airs Pollutants, or HAPs) and are made from renewable resources
- To limit environmental and funeral home worker exposure to conventional embalming chemicals (formaldehyde)
- You consider it a simpler, more cost effective burial option for friends and family to meaningfully honor your life

Home Funerals

Made Easier...

Before the change in times, when our dead were taken into professional care and their lives remembered in a place of worship, families cared for and celebrated their loved ones at home.

The idea of returning to this practice, however personally meaningful, is far removed from simpler times and can present difficulties complicating an already devastating loss.

Allow us to do it for you:

- Temporary custody into our care allows us to bathe, sanitize, shroud/clothe and perform various preparations of your choice
- Evaluate and plan for your needs to hold home services
- Manage, supply and set-up equipment at your home
- Transport of the deceased from and to your home and cemetery
- Provide director oversight of visitation times, as well as professional services through committal service
- Coordinate and/or arrange for catering and post-service clean-up

We do all we can.

Our basic professional services of funeral director and staff includes 24hr on-call reliability and grief support, personalized memorial webpage, on-site internet streaming platform, legal and military document preparation and filing, obituary writing/submission, coordination with outside venues/entities, and access to convenient online financing and community funding solutions.

We make it even easier.

Additional expenses to our Care Offerings may arise depending on your selection. As a full concierge service most third party charges can be paid-forward and included in the final billing. Some examples are:

- Clergy honorarium
- Musician's honorarium
- Committal fees
- Certified death certificate copies
- Paid obituary/death notices
- Catering and cleanup
